It uses a minimalist interface with a few main options: - Volume gain: - Change video, audio and all combination of both to a different Numbering: - Change, by percentage, all different compression settings (I.e IDR, D-frames and C-frames): - If you are unable to remember this option or don't know how to use it - You can also use ReStream to generate a new MPEG2 elementary stream at the exact same settings as the one you just want to change. ReStream is both stable and easy to use, it has an easy to understand but extremely powerfull and flexible tool. ReStream has been tested on Win XP and Mac OS X. ReStream has been tested in VLC player and in windows media player. This has been done mainly in MP4 format, both in DVD Standard Definition and in High Definition formats. ReStream is not able to process the playlists (PES or PS) of DVDs. This is currently the maximum VLC player can handle. Information on how to modify the movie can be found in the information box at the end of this file. For more information you can visit ReStream on the forum at information on how to use ReStream to generate a new elementary stream at the exact same settings as your old one is in the last section of this file. This page is still not that well programmed but I will do my best to add features to it and improve it. I hope you like it. David Important note If you do not have the source code of the program, it is not possible to help you to modify the interface.
