It turns the technology in your home to from a liability to a help. A lot of people think LCDs are easy to break, but I'm here to tell you - they aren't. As technology continues to improve, it is important to remember that LCD screens are just like anything else - they can break. If it breaks, you lose the usefulness of your entire home. In contrast, home theater systems are something that add value to your home. If you have trouble breaking your LCD, then you're going to have trouble breaking your home theater system. 2. It changes the benefits of home theater from luxuries to necessities. In the not too distant past, a home theater was a fancy expensive addition for a home. With the advent of LCD, home theater is rapidly changing from a luxury item to a necessity. This is not to say that a home theater is something that you should go to without the right home theater system. The question becomes – do you really need to have a home theater? LCDs offer so many benefits that even a non-techie can understand. The ability to go through, select, and watch a play or movie all in black and white is a huge convenience. 3. It gives you instant access to movies, television, and sports all day, every day. If you'
