Philippine National Police general office Philippine National Police General Office (PNP GO) or General Office of the Philippine National Police is an office of the Philippine National Police, the supreme law enforcement agency of the Philippines. The PNP GO is the custodian of the PNP Commission on Human Rights, the PNP Anti-Terrorism Intelligence Service and the PNP Civil Relations Bureau. The major functions of the office of the PNP GO include: Dedication The primary responsibility of the PNP GO is dedicated to the four pillars of the PNP service: loyalty, integrity, fortitude and duty. The Office of the PNP GO is also responsible to serve as the Headquarters of the PNP and its remaining Community Support Offices. Organization As mandated by the Omnibus Code of 1991, the Office of the PNP GO is the direct under-secretary of the PNP. Under the current administration, the previous Police Office is the Deputy Director of the PNP GO, while the current one is the Director of the PNP GO. Under the newly enforced PNP Penal Code, the role of the Director of the PNP GO is to supervise, coordinate and direct the functions of all police units, detachments and installations under its jurisdiction. Once the PNP GO is the direct under-secretary of the PNP, the Deputy Director of the PNP GO is the chief administrative officer of the PNP and its Office of the Legal Service. The Office of the PNP GO is headed by the Director of the PNP GO, while the PNP chief is also its chief of staff. Under the Office of the PNP GO, there is the Regional Center (RC) heads located in the Regional Bureaus. Role of the PNP GO in the PNP The PNP GO is the organization in charge of the PNP's supervision and direction in all three Community Support Offices. The Office of the PNP GO is also in charge of the management and administration of the PNP Academy, the police's training center. The Office of the PNP GO takes control of all police detachments assigned or under its jurisdiction, and also oversees and manages the community support offices and the PNP forensic laboratory. The Office of the PNP GO is responsible to develop policies and guidelines for all police units, detachments and communities/inst

I am a professional photographer of my family and grandchildren.1. Field of the Invention The present invention relates generally to the treatment of the exhaust gases from internal combustion engines, and more particularly to a new and improved apparatus for removing carbon particulate matter from exhaust gases in the form of particulate laden oil particles and a new and improved exhaust particulate filter trap. 2. Description of the Prior Art Various approaches have been taken to removing particulate matter or soot from the exhaust gases of internal combustion engines. This is particularly true in the area of vehicular exhaust emission control. A common method of removing particulate from engine exhaust gases is to utilize a filter trap. The filter trap is most commonly in the form of a box having a perforated metal container which is positioned in the flow of exhaust gases and on which the larger particulate matter is entrapped. It is necessary to periodically clean the trap of the particulate so that the trap continues to operate as a true filter. One approach which has been taken to removing particulate from the trap is to remove the trap periodically and replace it with a new trap. This approach is necessary since the time it takes to properly clean the trap is greater than the period of time it takes for the trap to reach the point where the trap becomes "full". In order to reduce the quantity of particulate released into the
