Saintilan · Climeworks Abstract In this study, we model the total global energy efficiency of solar photovoltaic modules over their entire life cycle. We also provide an overview of the research on the energy efficiency of solar photovoltaic modules over time, their reliability, and their tolerance to different climates. We base our analysis on the extensive market data gathered by the Fraunhofer Institute for Solar Energy Systems ISE. The results of our study indicate that the total global energy efficiency of solar photovoltaic modules decreases as the number of years the modules operate increases. This decrease is caused by two different trends in the worldwide market of solar photovoltaic modules:

- The total energy efficiency of solar photovoltaic modules decreases over time as the technology improves and the module costs decrease.
- The total global energy efficiency of solar photovoltaic modules remains practically constant for modules in sunny climates, but decreases for modules in sunny but cold climates. We found this decrease to be caused by module degradation and by losses in the thermal efficiency of solar thermal power plants.
- The energy efficiency of PV

List of birds of American Samoa This is a list of the bird species recorded in American Samoa. The avifauna of American Samoa include a total of 82 species, of which three are endemic, one is probable, and 78 are rare or accidental. This list's taxonomic treatment (designation and sequence of orders, families and species) and nomenclature (common and scientific names) follow the conventions of The Clements Checklist of Birds of the World, 6th edition. The family accounts at the beginning of each heading reflect this taxonomy, as do the species counts found in each family account. The following tags have been used to highlight several categories. The commonly occurring native species do not fall into any of these categories. (A) Accidental - a species that rarely or accidentally occurs in American Samoa (E) Endemic - a species endemic to American Samoa (P) Probable - a species that
