Many people forget how good it is to have a personal assistant with them all the time, right by your side, even if you're on the road. Have you ever wished that you could get reminders about things, take notes, or record what you are hearing on the go? KEYMACRO has all this and more. No matter where you go, you'll always have your very own personal assistant with you. By default, the software runs in the background on your phone so you can use it without interrupting your current activities, and because you are using a Blackberry, the software is fully compatible with your device. Keymacro's main window features the Today section. This is the first part of the program that makes the most use of the space you have, it has the most features, and is the place to go to check your most important notes and reminders. Next up is the 1 section. This is where you create your new reminders. These can be for anything from a task, date, time, meeting, phone call, or anything else. The 2 section is where you keep track of notes. Notes can be for anything from you meeting a new person, to people you would like to keep in touch with. The program can even remind you that you are out of battery. The 3 section is the part where you keep track of your daily schedule. When you enter your daily schedule, you can set how often you want the reminders to pop up. You can also set whether the reminders you get should pop up at the start or at the end of your day, or even both if you want. The program even has an option to add events to your schedule. The 4 section is the section where you can keep track of any tasks that you might need to get done. It can remind you when it's time to take a break, that you need to do something or anything else that is needed. The 5 section is where you can set your personal preferences. You can pick which tasks to notify you about, choose what alerts should be delivered to your phone, and more. AppSafari Description: Lightweight and tiny, AppSafari's interface is clean and neat. The app includes all the necessary features to make it an app worth having on your mobile device. iPhone Maker Boyd's Flashcard Game is a great learning tool that allows students to earn rewards for mastering cards and skills in various subjects. Users can access the game through a multitude of devices, such as mobile phones, tablets and even the browser. It features a flashcard-based game that can be played through a variety of methods. The site is also user-friendly and is designed to help the student learn how to develop visual, auditory and manual skills. The best thing about the game is that the students can complete challenges for earning points and badges. The different badges are divided into five levels, with different time limits for completion. The higher the level, the faster the students are rewarded with point totals. Upon registering for the game, users will find a section that contains the students' details, which include age, grade and course. Students can also be shown where they stand and what they have accomplished. The site was designed to give the students a personalized learning approach and the features allow the students to use various ways to play the game. They can interact with a teacher and receive real-time results. There is a toolkit of activities that provide students with an educational game and learning experience. The activities range from card matching, drawing and coloring, or short quizzes. There are three main categories on the flashcard game site, which are related to visual learning, auditory learning and manual learning. The visual category involves tasks that rely on touch-screen capabilities and the user can also earn points by mastering the different cards. The auditory category allows the users to play games that rely on auditory abilities and requires a mouse or touch-screen device. The manual category is an exercise that uses the pen and the mouse to complete tasks. Boyd&#
